Operating Model – General overview

Tsebo Mobile Solutions provides variable off-site mobile solutions via a centralised call-centre that incorporates partnership management, quality, cost-effectiveness and service delivery. Each account is managed by a dedicated Mobile Facilities Manager, supported by a team of administrators, call-centre operators and quality controllers. The team's main functions include ensuring optimum, cost-effective service delivery, reporting, administration and finance, to ensure that our clients focus on their core business while Tsebo Facilities Solutions takes care of the rest.

Our centralised call centre ensures a single point of contact. All requests will be logged by Tsebo's call centre via a self-service request, e-mail or telephone call, and clients will be provided with a reference number to keep track of the request. The requests will be logged by one or more identified client staff members that have the authority to log all calls (controlling cost), thus ensuring governance and levels of authority are always adhered to.

All work orders and service delivery will be accomplished and verified on an agreed frequency to ensure the highest standard of service quality is maintained. Site-specific checklists and site audits will be used in conjunction with call-centre reports, as performance measurement and quality control mechanisms for the delivery of services, the meeting of agreed SLAs and quality levels.

Commercial Reporting

The efficiency of operational systems and facility use can be tracked to assist the client in reaching informed management decisions. Tsebo provides each client with customised online reports that compare daily, weekly, monthly and annual costs at different locations, cost per square meter, breakdown repairs for all trades, the number of service calls made from each facility or any other data a client may require.

Tsebo Mobile Solutions will deliver the service on an open-book basis providing clients with up-front pricing with NO HIDDEN costs or markups. Our experience indicates that this approach allows Tsebo to add significant value to the client in terms of streamlining workflow, budget preparation, management & reporting and ongoing efficiencies, as well as by contributing economies of scale and skill.

Tsebo provides each client with a single monthly invoice that includes the contract fee and all other costs incurred in the provision of the service (in accordance with the agreed budget and call-outs via the call centre).

AFFORDABLE EXPERTISE

By paying a customised monthly retainer, each client accesses Tsebo's 24/7 helpdesk, national service execution partner base, specialist FM site visits and quality control functions and checks. Generally, the commercial structure of our service provision can be split between fixed and variable costs:

- Fixed costs include planned and contracted services that are performed at a set frequency at agreed service standards. Examples of this could include a cleaning service three times a week, or a monthly generator service. Planned and contracted fixed services which will be agreed during implementation and included in the budget.
- Variable Costs include once-off services and reactive calls, where volumes and frequencies are determined by the client and are ad hoc service requests. These services would be based on agreed rates and call-out fees. Examples could include the replacement of a cracked windowpane, or a once-off deep clean after a coffee spillage. Reactive call-outs and 3rd party services are logged at the Tsebo call centre and billed in accordance with agreed call-outs and schedule of rates.
